

A stylized, colorful illustration of a city skyline, likely New York City, featuring various skyscrapers in shades of red, orange, yellow, and blue. The buildings are rendered in a geometric, blocky style with some windows and architectural details. The background is a dark, textured gradient.

THIRD ANNUAL PRACTICING GEOGRAPHY WEEK FIELD TRIP TO

NEW YORK CITY

FRIDAY, APRIL 15 - SUNDAY, APRIL 17

FOR NEW MAJORS IN GEOGRAPHY
GLOBAL ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES
& EARTH SYSTEM SCIENCE

Join us for a weekend of fun in NYC!
Meet students in your major, experience
Urban Geography and explore the city.
Walking tours led by Professor Mark Davidson.
Details and tentative itinerary to be released.

$30

cash deposit required*

please contact Rachel Levitt

if you are interested in attending

email: rlevitt@clarku.edu

jefferson 220 b | 508.793.7282

*deposit covers the cost of a group dinner on the first evening.

transportation and accommodation costs are covered by the School of Geography and the Peter J. Condakes fund.

poster design adapted from ivy tai design