UNDERGRADUATE DIRECTED STUDY FORM

GSOM Undergraduate Directed Study Policy

The general intent of these guidelines is to ensure that an undergraduate directed study results in a meaningful academic experience and is viewed positively by both students and faculty.

Directed studies are restricted to juniors and seniors who have sufficient course background in relevant academic subjects. Thus, management majors are the typical candidates for directed studies. The decision regarding the appropriateness of any proposed directed study and/or student is up to the discretion of the faculty supervisor.

Directed studies are limited to no more than one (1) course credit. A directed study course does not count towards the management major or minor.
