ISSO NEWS  May 2016

STEM OPT Workshop Dates
We are going to see big changes to the OPT regulations for students in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) fields beginning on May 10. Come to one of our STEM OPT workshops to learn about these changes and how they affect you. These workshops are open to graduate and undergraduate students in a STEM degree program at Clark or who have earned a STEM degree from another US university within the past 10 years.

Friday, April 29  - 12:30 PM until 2:00 PM; Lurie Conference Room
Thursday, May 5 – 3:00 PM until 4:30 PM; Jonas Clark 118

I-20 end date check!
Now is the time to check your I-20 or DS-2019. If you are not graduating this May and the end date is listed as May 2016 on your I-20 or DS-2019, now is the time to make arrangements to extend. Make sure to contact the ISSO for instructions on how to extend you end date and stay in status.

Community Thrift  Store Storage
Community Thrift Store offers affordable and convenient summer storage option for both undergraduate and graduate students at Clark University. Please look here for more details!
Travelers – take note
You may have heard about the Zika virus in the news lately. For those of you who plan to travel during spring break, please take a look at this link to find out where cases of the Zika disease has been found: http://www.cdc.gov/zika/geo/ Although most cases of the Zika virus are mild, here is some information about preventative measures you can take to avoid contraction: http://www.cdc.gov/zika/disease-qa.html
